Investment objective

The objective of this Sub-fund is to provide its investors with long-term capital appreciation by implementing a UCITS compliant strategy that seeks to approximate the returns that alternative funds using “Managed Futures style” would typically achieve, which comprises strategies that aim at generating returns by taking long and short positions across asset classes (equities indices, government bonds or rates, currencies and/or commodities via eligible instruments) and by using futures and forward contracts to achieve their investment objectives. There is generally low to no exposure to single companies. These alternative funds generally use quantitative processes to identify long or short opportunities in the various asset classes they analyse. Despite being directional by nature, these strategies have a low correlation to major risk factors over the medium to long term. For the avoidance of doubt, the Sub-Manager will not invest in such alternative funds. The Fund is actively managed not in reference to a benchmark.

Highlights

-The iMGP DBi Managed Futures UCITS portfolio returned a -0.5% net in April and is down -3.2% this year.

Market Review

April saw immense volatility across asset classes and historical, established correlations broke down as new US trade policies were announced. Markets pared some losses after a 90-day pause was announced. Growth outperformed value during the month and surprisingly, the Russell 1000 Growth Index ended the month positive, marking a notable divergence from other areas of the market. The 10-year yield initially dropped on the tariff announcement but then rose 50 bps in a matter of days. The US dollar plunged which came as a surprise to market participants, defying the conventional belief that tariffs typically drive the trade weighted currency higher.

Fund Review

A long dollar position against the Euro and Japanese Yen, which both rose approximately 5% during the month, were the primary detractors from portfolio performance. Equities contributed to performance with a short position in US stocks and a well-timed increase in long exposure to emerging markets. However, these gains were offset by a long position in EAFE heading into the month, which was subsequently trimmed during the rebound. Interest rate positions were accretive to portfolio performance as positions shifted to a duration weighted long throughout the month. A decline in crude oil prices early in the month—driven by global growth concerns—was successfully captured through a short position. By month-end however, the portfolio had pivoted to a long position in the commodity. Additionally, a long position in gold throughout the month contributed to gains, as the metal rallied 5% on the back of safe-haven demand.

Outlook

The Fund has performed well during this uncertain period. The SG CTA Index is down -6.9% year-to-date, as a number of esoteric trades moved against hedge funds. This month's performance continues to underscore DBi's core conviction that focusing on core, liquid, exchange-traded instruments can drive meaningful returns while helping to mitigate downside risk in periods of heightened volatility.
